Alumni News

A Treat for the Senses

To enjoy an evening of arts and excellence, the University invited members of its President's Club to a reception on December 3 as a special thank you for their support of Montclair State University. Held in the George Segal Gallery, the reception featured the Montclair State University Galleries' exhibition Nothing Under Heaven. President Jonathan Koppell welcomed guests and thanked President's Club members for their support, emphasizing that as donors, they make a direct impact in the lives of students and a strong investment in their future.

Defined as your willingness and ability to quickly adapt to change, agility in the workplace is an asset in any economy. Its worth today, however, is priceless considering the lightspeed evolution of work over this past year. Whether mental or physical labor, by 2024 it's expected 50% of structured, repeatable tasks will be automated. While this isn't much of a surprise, how do we remain agile in the face of all this change? Episode 36 of Montclair's Career Services podcast highlights the 8 characteristics that make you more agile at work.
