An early congrats to our very own Professor Cottle, FSHD Academic Advisor, who will become a first-time grandfather later this month!

Faculty Spotlight

Dr. Miriam R. Linver

Faculty Member Since 2003

Main Research Area: Ecological contexts of child and adolescent development

Courses Taught: Child Development I, Infant Development, Child Development II: Adolescence, Independent Study Projects: Observation Component OF CD I, Field Experiences in Family & Human Services, Selected Topics in FSHD, Advanced Practicum

Fun Fact: Dr. Linver is originally from Albuquerque, NM. She is also the mom of 2 teenagers--who often "star" in her Child Development lectures.

"Many of our students know exactly what they want to do when they graduate. While this can be a good thing, it can also indicate "identity foreclosure," making up one's mind before exploring all the options. We offer a wide variety of classes in FSHD, so there are many opportunities to explore topics & career options while earning your FSHD degree, before you finalize your future."

GRADUATE OPEN HOUSE – SUNDAY, FEBRUARY 23RD

Find out how The Graduate School at Montclair State can help you achieve your professional goals and earning potential.

Student Spotlight

Ashley Vitiello

Current Senior in Family Science & Human Development (School Settings)

Her Story: Ever since Ashley was a little girl, she dreamed of becoming a teacher. Coming to Montclair State & pursuing her dream by being part of the FSHD major & transitioning into the teacher education program, is something that is invaluable to her.

Ashley is graduating this May, but is taking graduate courses throughout the summer & is completing Clinical I & Clinical II here at MSU. After she receives her Master's Degree, she hopes to come back to MSU to receive her administration certification.

"Looking back on my past years here at MSU, I can honestly say I would not be where I am today without my advisor Mr. Cottle, the FSHD major & professors, & the teacher education program... This university has given me so many opportunities, friendships, & knowledge that I will cherish forever."
