In regard to the Senate Recommendation on Policy Development, Review and Dissemination, as I noted when I met with the Senate on Opening Day, I agree that the record-keeping and management of University policies has gotten a bit out of hand, and there needs to be a careful compilation and index made of current policies, a cleansing of obsolete policies or old versions of policies, and readily available, user-friendly access to policies. Once current policies have been identified, organized, and a good web-presence created to make them available, it will be much easier to keep the policy portfolio accurate and up-to-date. Getting from here to there will require a significant, but necessary, effort. I have asked the Office of University Counsel to take management of the project, and I will make sure they have the resources necessary to complete the task. I will report back to the Senate in December in regard to progress on this effort.
